

LinHES - Bug # 719: better values for /etc/unclutter.cfg

Status:	Closed	Priority:	Normal
Author:	LuxLuthor	Category:
Created:	09/25/2010	Assignee:
Updated:	11/05/2010	Due date:
Description:	For cursor hiding, use more realistic values like: root@etc$: m unclutter.cfg 1 idle=3 2 jitter=15 The default, 1 sec idle and 200 pixels make it difficult to ever use the cursor.

The values can be changed in unclutter.cfg or unclutter can be toggled by ctrl+alt+u

The default values are meant to hide the cursor, for any extended usage toggle unclutter.
